Herbal Collection

In 2001, Tim Westwell and Sebastian Pole started Pukka from a simple idea: to connect people with the incredible wonders of herbs, starting a journey to a healthier, happier life. Welcome to the deliciously colourful world of Pukka.

Pukka means authentic; it's at the heart of all that we do. Making every organic tea with tender loving care; we nurture relationships with our families of growers and harvesters from over 52 countries around the world.

Every cup of Pukka tea is flooded with the knowledge of the power of plants – and the wellbeing of people.

Take a moment with each blend; connect with the world around you. Your discovery starts with each cup of delicious organic tea.

Every one of our blends brims with the wisdom of our Master Herbsmith Sebastian Pole. Pukka teas – to lift you, to soothe you and to refresh you – each one a journey of delight for the senses.
